

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system for mediating between at least one user and at least one manufacturer via a network is disclosed. The system includes a storage part in which 5 purchase information related to products possessed by the at least one user is stored and an insurance request part capable of requesting insurance on the products according to the purchase information stored in the storage part.

10